

David Donnelly

Denver, CO • 719.368.0453 • daviddonnelly25@gmail.com
linkedin.com/in/daviddonnelly • daviddonnelly.carbonmade.com • github.com/daviddonnelly

EDUCATION

University of Denver, Denver, CO

Daniel Felix Ritchie School of Engineering and Computer Science

Bachelor of Science, Computer Science

Graduated: June, 2018

3.39 GPA

RELEVANT PROJECTS

Lunarsea

Programmer/ Developer

January, 2017 – July, 2017

- Devised and developed within 48 hour Game Jam
- Refined over several months in a professional setting
- Released on iOS, Android, and Steam

TECHNICAL SKILLS

- Substantial experience with Visual Studio, Eclipse, Open Frameworks, Git
- Intermediate to advanced proficiency in Unity and C#
- Novice proficiency in C++ and Java
- Fundamental awareness in C, Linux, JavaScript, and HTML

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Live in the Game LLC, Denver, CO

Programmer/ Developer

February, 2017 – July, 2017

- Developed and programmed Unity game “Lunarsea” with a small team
- Regularly met and planned with supervisors over video conferencing
- Worked primarily independently which strengthened time management and work ethic
- Gained significant working experience in Unity/C# as well as working in a team

Triangle Landscaping, Colorado Springs, CO

Landscaper

June, 2017 – October, 2017

- Strengthened discipline through demanding physical labor
- Introduced to a smaller sized organization the environment that entails

Carmike Cinemas, Colorado Springs, CO

Position Title

June, 2015 – September, 2015

- Instilled strong willingness to follow direction and trust authority
- Developed communication skills through working with customers and coworkers
- Strengthened flexibility in working on whatever needed to be worked on moment to moment

LEADERSHIP EXPERIENCE

The Thorn, Colorado Springs, CO

Volunteer group leader

2012 - 2016

- Co-led and directed group of approximately 20 people in annual large theatrical performance
- Became co-leader through 8 prior years of experience in the production
- Organized and brought the group together with a high spirit and kind disposition