

Fabiola Minda Castro (July 12th 1986) is a multidisciplinary artist born in Guayaquil, Ecuador but based in The Netherlands. Her biggest passion of all is storytelling. How she express these stories depends on the moment, opportunity, tools and mood. But over the years as an instinctive communicator, her primary tools have been scriptwriting and photography.

Background

At the age of 13 Fabiola started with time in the scenic arts, studying theater at the, 'Casa de la cultura', House of Culture of Ecuador in Guayaquil. During most of her teens years, she performed in various roles for several drama series on Ecuadorian TV.

She wrote poetry at a very young age gaining recognition and prizes during secondary school years. It developed later on into writing short stories and essays that caught the attention of a large audience via Twitter (2009-2010). Fabiola Studied Communication in Ecotec University in Ecuador.

Her work as scriptwriter includes the creation of the plot and full script of various episodes of different sitcoms for Teleamazonas TV channel (2011 – 2013); a movie based on real facts for independent producers (2012), and the creation of other pilot-projects for local television (2013 – 2014.)

Fabiola has been living in the Netherlands since 2014 where she found love in photography, combining two of her biggest passions in one: travelling and storytelling. What this comes down to is dedicating time and effort to documenting little moments of people's lives around the world.
